Dedication

Mrs. Irene Keister

We, the class of 1965, are proud to dedicate our yearbook to a very worthy teacher.

Once a student at Brockway High, she has returned to teach at her alma mater.

She is always willing to give advice and guidance to those who need it. Her friendly smile and genuine interest in her students have won her the admiration of all who have known her.

It is with deepest gratitude and respect that we, the Seniors of 1965, dedicate this, the twentieth edition of the "Dawn," to Mrs. Irene Keister.

Mr. Herbert Steele High School Principal

Miss Caroline Longwell Assistant Principal

The success and unity of our school structure depends largely upon the harmony which exists between its two branches, the administration and the student body. While these two groups differ greatly in size and structure, they have a similar purpose: to provide tomorrow's world with the leadership and skill necessary for progress. It is the goal of the administration to provide the best possible education, which will prepare each and every student to assume a place of leadership in his chosen profession. Similarly, it is the aim and the duty of each student to apply himself to the task of scholarship with all his resources and energy. As the student body is the very life and purpose of a school, it is fitting that the pictures of our leaders and administrators be followed by the pictures of those they guide and inspire -- the students.

Last year the Brockway Band was honored by having two of its members attend the Music Educators National Conference held in Philadelphia. The members of this band were made up of the upper one third of the musicians who attended Regional Band in one of the five regions of Pennsylvania. Vickie Harry and Tom Burkett, who ranked very high at Regional Band, attended this important festival, a feat which requires much training and skill.

As the first light of dawn resolves itself into the brightness of day, so did the eighth-graders resolve their best efforts into their educational journey, faced with the ever-growing challenge of academic excellence; these young students have incorporated vital enthusiasm and dedication into everything they do. These qualities are sure to make their scholastic lives, as well as their futures, successful and rewarding.

In the dawn of their high school years, the seventhgraders have eagerly participated in the school's activities. Their enthusiasm and lively interest have been an asset to our school. They were faced with new responsibilities, but soon adapted themselves to their new surroundings and quickly settled down to their studies. They have put their best foot forward in preparing for the years ahead, and we are confident that they will be able to meet the challenges of the future.

Scholastic Awards

Each year, after the termination of the school term, the outstanding students are invited to attend a scholastic banquet. Participation in this event is acquired by attaining honor roll status three times during the preceding year. These students are representative of a great deal of work and achievement and are among the most ambitious and industrious students in the school.

Homecoming — 1964

Homecoming Queen and Attendants. Attendant: Linda Benson, Queen: Nancy Smith, Attendant: Marsha Fustine.

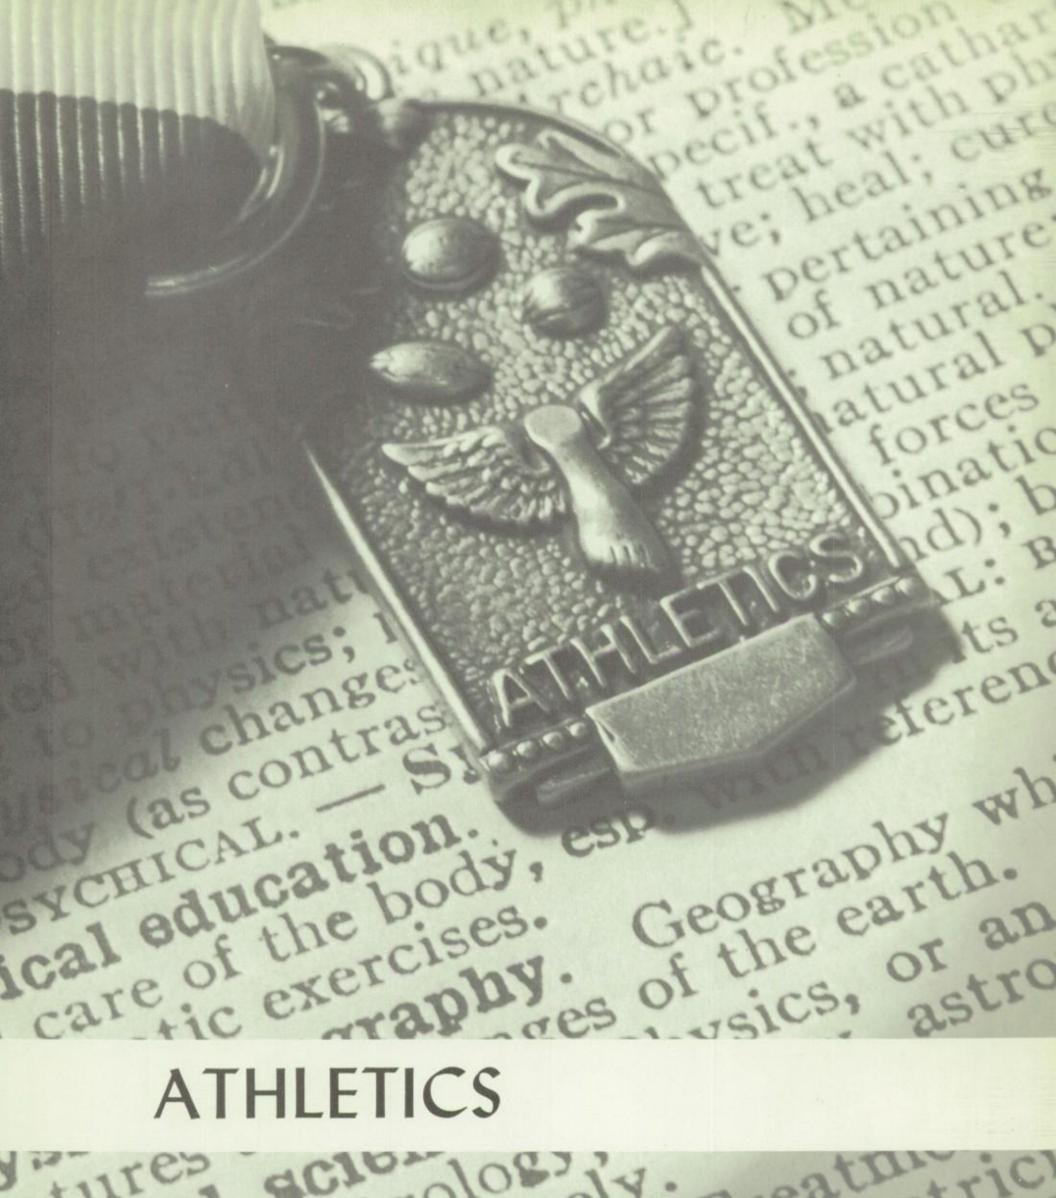

The Student Council's efforts in organizing this year's Homecoming resulted in one of the most successful and beautiful pageants ever. The festivities began with a bonfire and pep rally held at the football field on the eve of the Homecoming. Following a parade led by the Band on Saturday afternoon, Queen Nancy Smith and attendants Linda Benson and Marsha Fustine were ushered onto the field during the half-time of the Brockway-Reynoldsville game to the strains of POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE. They were presented trophies by the co-captains of the football team. The celebration was climaxed by the Homecoming Dance, at which Nancy Smith was officially crowned Queen of the Homecoming.

Golf, a relatively new sport in our school, is comprised of voluntary players who have expressed interest in this field of athletics. A team is made up of five members who oppose golfers of equal handicap and ability from other district schools.

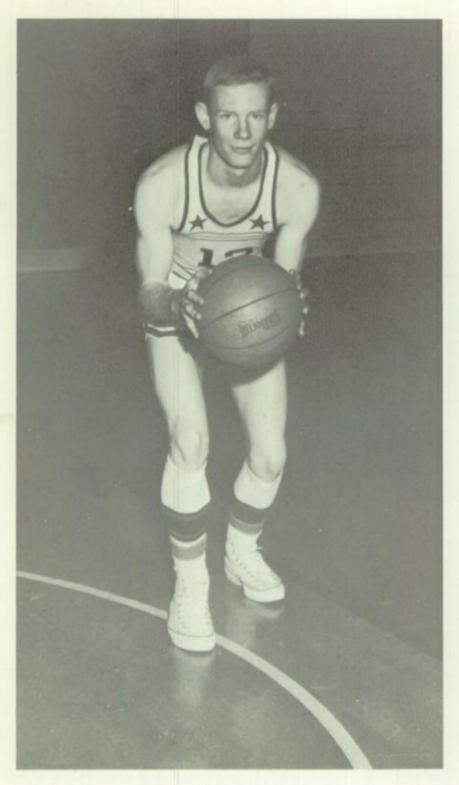

The team won two of its six matches last year when it participated in the District IX schedule. During May, three members of the team -- Emory Keith, Ernie Coder, and Dennis Keister participated in the District IX Tournament, an annual event held at various courses in the district.

Beginning in April, the golfers, with the supervision of Mr. Gary Keister, and the experience gained last year, will start many arduous weeks of practice in order to make this an even more successful year for Brockway.

Band

One of the most colorful and active groups in the school, the Band is also the fastest growing. During the past year its membership passed the 100 mark. Under the capable leadership of Mr. Routch and drum major Verle Emanuelson, improvement over past seasons has also passed the 100 per cent mark. The Band is engaged in many and varied activities in the community as well as in the school. Its members work hard all summer to perfect the precision drills and spirited tunes used the half-time shows in the fall; all winter is spent in preparing a wide selection of music for the annual Spring Concert. In addition, many members attend County and District Band, while the unit as a whole appears in the Halloween and Firemen's Parades and the Christmas Assembly. A smaller organization, the Pep Band, provides entertainment at Basketball games.

The cheerleaders did an extremely commendable job helping to restore spirit to our school. During the summer, the squad met twice a week to perfect their cheers. In the fall they introduced several new cheers, which were greeted enthusiastically by the student body. A mock pep rally, in which the cheerleaders and the football players exchanged places, was held before a league game during football season. This was only one of the many excellent pep rallies held during the course of the year. The squad worked hard to prepare routines for the pep rallies and to lead the crowd in cheering the boys on to victory.

The Dance Band, formerly a club, is now in the curriculum and is scheduled one period a week. Under the new terminology, a group of this nature is now called a stage band. This group is an offshoot of the style made imortal by such all-time greats as Les Brown, Duke Ellington, and the Dorsey Brothers. The objective of the modern stage band is no longer to provide just dance music. It reflects the style of the swing era in its big band sound which, unlike common dance music, is primarily for listening. The function of this organization in the school curriculum is to expose the musicians to the various froms of jazz on instruments other than just the guitar. This provides an opportunity for wind players to double on other instruments and to increase their virtuosity in a practical and profitable way. It teaches the students to be able to express themselves through their music as well as to enable them to understand the principles of music in a more practical and efficient way. This type of music also increases the individual technique of each musician and helps him to better coordinate himself to skill in performing with a small group. An organization such as the dance band also teaches a sense of leadership in music -- a trait which may prove very profitable in the future. To be an effective musician in an organization of this kind, the student must understand the fundamentals of music theory because he must be able to apply them in an effective manner in ad lib sections.

Our dance band is organized on a basis of providing its members with this kind of experience and training. The students perform at many functions, notably dances and banquets, at which they have been very successful and well-received.

Concert Band

A very great asset to the instrumental department of our school is the Concert Band, Each fall after football season is over the Marching Band makes the transition into its concert season. During this period the emphasis is shifted from the brisk snappy marches and show music to careful renditions of all types of music, from jazz to classical selections. This year the band had the great honor to be invited to perform at the New York World's Fair, and devoted the proceeds of several concerts and drives to achieving this end. A magazine campaign held early in the school term provided a large part of the funds, which were later supplemented by other activities sponsored by the assiduous band members and their parents.

The Future Farmers of America, commonly known as the F.F.A., is an organization formed for boys enrolled in Vocational Agriculture. The F.F.A. not only teaches modern farming to the boys, but is of great benefit to the local community. They take part in activities and contests which build up one's character and the desire to win. The climax of their school year is a banquet in which the members receive awards for their achievements.

The main function of the Future Teachers of America Club is to create among the student body an interest in teaching. In addition to observing classes and teaching for one day in the elementary schools, the members also toured the campus of a local college. Under the capable leadership of Mr. Grant, this vital organization provides the benefit of experience to those students contemplating a career in teaching.

F.H.A.

The Future Homemakers of America was organized to teach young girls the responsibilities of managing a home. Under the leadership of Mrs. Burkett, they are taught the various fundamentals of home economics. Girls from the ninth through twelfth grades who are interested in homemaking may become members of this club.

This year the Buzzer has achieved a high peak of literary quality. Its experienced staff has turned out many excellent editorials and articles of interest to every member of the student body. Mr. Keister, the staff advisor, has done an exemplary, job of supervising the newspaper's publication and increasing its sales. This year's Buzzer's literary content and style are certainly the finest it has ever known.

Pep Club

The Pep Club, organized for only two years, has become a very active organization in the school. For each athletic event, the members of the club made posters and placed them in various places throughout the school; victory tags were also given to the student body to be pinned on their shirts or blouses. Much enthusiasm was aroused by the members, who sat together at all games and cheered vigorously. Under the supervision of their peppy advisor, Mrs. Siple, the Pep Club added to and made the spirit of the school stronger.

Art Club

The Art Club, which is under the supervision of Miss Straitwell, does an admirable job of beautifying our school and displaying the creative skill of the students. It provides decorations for stage settings, show cases, and various banquets in addition to posters for athletic and other student functions. The Club, open to all students in grades 8 through 12, holds a formal initiation for new members each year, after which it settles down to work on its many projects.

Library Club

Under the capable leadership of Mrs. Haines, the Library Club works hard to help students in the library find research material, the answer to a puzzling question, or just something to read for pleasure. The members of this club give up their study halls to serve as librarians and to do the other necessary work that keeps our library operating at its usual high peak of efficiency.
